Janette Richardson

I believe the most important thing to ask yourself when you are writing an answer to an assessment is to ask, "does what I am writing relate to the question?" I have over twenty years' experience as an educator, teaching both adults and high school students. I have a diploma in teaching, a diploma in adult teaching, a bachelor of arts and a post graduate diploma in adult literacy and numeracy. I have taught students from many countries, including Iran, China, Russia, New Caledonia, Korea and Samoa, to name a few. My students are from all walks of life including: freezing workers, truck drivers, teachers, mechanics, primary, secondary and tertiary students. I love seeing my students achieve success. I am passionate about helping students reach their education goals. My philosophy is that if the learning is relevant, the student is involved and the tutor plans for the individual, then together we journey Toward Success.
